PSA RE: Fallen overhead lines

In light of the accident on the Priority Bus Route on August 2nd where a truck pulled down several utility poles and overhead lines, T&TEC offers the following guidance to the public on safety precautions to take in such circumstances.

Thankfully, most of the damage on Wednesday was to non-T&TEC equipment and therefore did not pose a shock or electrocution hazard to members of the public. However, unless trained, members of the public may not be able to differentiate between a T&TEC, Satellite TV or Telephone cable and can endanger themselves and others. It is therefore important to adopt extreme caution in such circumstances.

We will appreciate if you can share this important message with your audience.
